

OFFICIAL PAPER
OF—Cochise County.

I. O. O. F. meet to-night.
Local items are very scarce to-day.
The pro-Chinese club if ever there was any, feel sick to-day.

See Geronimo's picture which appears in another column.

Yesterday and to-day have been very disagreeable days.
The churches well attended yesterday and last evening.

An Anti-Chinese League will be organized in Fairbank and Benson this week.

There will be a wedding celebrated in this city next Sunday evening. Don't you wish you knew who!

Two Chinese left this city this morning making a total of sixty-eight since the agitation has begun.

By the admission of Washington Territory as a State, all persons owning an American flag should add one more star—making thirty-nine in all.

J. M. Leary, the boss shoemaker of this city, returned last evening from the east.

The highest price paid for county warrants at Taylor & Kenny's. 4-10 if

THE DAILY TOMSTONE is the first daily paper in Tombstone to publish a genuine picture of the noted blood sucker Geronimo.

We are indebted to Sr. Don Carlos Velasco, editor of El Fronterizo, of Tucson, for the excellent cut of Geronimo which appears in this issue.

Chas. Harris, the popular tailor has removed his tailoring establishment to the Bothin Block, Allen street, opposite the Fashion stables, with a fine lot of Spring goods. 3-22 if

E. G. Ashmun took his departure this morning for Tucson, where he goes to serve his country as a United States grand juror. We hope that he will get back safe.

If you want bargains in oil cloths and carpets, go to Schoenfeld & Hyman's. 3-26 1m

Herrera and McClure to-day received three car loads of goods, and will enter into a close competition with our old business men for trade, and all who wish to purchase should call and examine their goods.

If you want choice beer, wines and liquors go to the Oriental saloon. 4-2 if

For the finest American beef and California mutton in Tombstone, go to A. Bauer's on Fourth street. It can't matter whether you want to buy wholesale or retail. Mr. A. Bauer will give you the finest in the land.

Lorrelard's new brand of cognac cocktail chewing tobacco, to be had at Ashmun & Walker's, "The Tobacconists." 4-12-3t

Ben Trevelcock, a well-known Cornish miner of this city, died at the hospital this morning. Ben was an old-timer in this city and was universally respected by all who knew him. The notice of his funeral will be published to-morrow.

The Bird Cage will present a grand performance on next Thursday evening, and one of the finest ever presented in this city. On Wednesday evening Joe Bignon, the manager, will arrive in this city with five new stars.

The Tombstone Democrat is now under the exclusive control of Wm. Tomlinson. Hugh Brawley having this day withdrawn from the firm. Mr. T. informs us that he will issue the Democrat as a morning daily on Thursday next.

It is reported that Dick Tooker, in taking a giant powder cap from his pocket two days ago, caused an accidental explosion, resulting in lacerating his right hand and tearing a hole in his side; he is lying at Hermosillo in a critical condition. Tooker has some fine mining properties in Sonora, which he has been operating for the last three years.—Star.

Grand Opening.

Look out to-morrow Mr. J. M. Leary will have a grand opening at his place of business on Allen street. Mr. Leary returned last evening from the east whither he has been for the past few months to purchase goods to supply the city of Tombstone with the finest lot of boots, shoes, slippers and in fact everything that could possibly be sold by a first-class dealer in boots and shoes. To-morrow Mr. Leary will have a gigantic add to show the people of this city that he has arrived and will sell them goods at their own price.

Something New

The Cuba hand-made cigar—made only by Cuban workmen out of the finest Havana tobacco. This cigar is the finest bit cigar ever sold in Tombstone. Ashmun & Walker, the tobacconist of Tombstone, are the sole agents, and all judges of a fine cigar are recommended to give them a trial. To be had only at Ashmun & Walker's Tobacco Emporium. 4-12-3t

Ho! He!! Ha!!!

The genuine plug-cut tobacco Seal of North Carolina in 1/2 pound boxes only 50 cents. This is the finest in the market, and Ashmun & Walker will convince you all of the same. "This is really something new." 4-12-5t

Mr Mansfield speaks in terms of praise of the Board of Supervisors of Cochise county, whom we found to be thorough gentlemen, fully alive to the needs of the wants of their county and careful of its interests. He also has many good words to say of the city of Tombstone, and its open-hearted people, and is much impressed with their rare hospitality.—Citizen.

J. Meyer and Bro. have bought the property of E. Wolff, just south of the "La Fama," which they will remodel and fit up for a store. The building will be 25x40 feet. They expect to have a large stock of dry goods, clothing and furnishing goods in it by May 15th. Meyer Bros. are large merchants of San Francisco and have branch stores at Tombstone, Bisbee and Globe. Merchants who carry large stocks like they will have here, will help to bring trade to the town. The News welcomes them and bespeaks a large trade for their house.—Nogales News.

Fairbanks is one of the liveliest towns on the N. M. & A. R. R., north of Nogales. Katzenstein & Rogers, the largest wholesale house there, is reaching out in all directions for trade and by liberal advertising, are reaping a big harvest. Their business has grown so large in the last few months, that they are compelled to add to their already large store, another building 50x100 feet, which is in course of construction. Sandy Bob, the biggest man of his size, in his line in Cochise county, now has competition in the stage business from Fairbank to Tombstone, by a new line just started, and fares have gone down. A small railroad war is likely to ensue. The new line cut the rate from the former price of $1.50, to $1.00, and Sandy Bob saw the cut and went one better, and now he hauls passengers without money and without price and if the war continues, he will doubtless throw in a chromo of Geronimo.—Nogales News.

It was General Miles who cleaned up the Sioux after Crook, Custer and Terry had all had a hand at them, and it is greatly to be hoped that his old-time successful experience will serve him well in this country. The change cannot but be beneficial. Almost any private in the army could have done better than Crook, who at last acknowledges that his Indian policy was a failure and that his confidence in the Apaches as scouts was misplaced. Poor old imbecile. He leaves without the regrets of a single officer of the army, and with the fervent curses of many citizens who charge him with the responsibility of the outbreak, and a criminal policy of employing scouts, which has cost the lives of so many citizens. The change is welcomed and a prayer will be breathed by the citizens of the ravaged sections for the success of the new commander.—Silver City Enterprise.

Arrival of Jimmy McKin.

On Wednesday John McKin, the father of Jimmy McKin, the thirteen-year-old captive taken by Geronimo and his band from the Guinas creek, east of Mimbres, in this county, on the 11th day of September, 1885, went to Deming to meet his boy. The little fellow arrived there Tuesday in a deplorable condition, having been shipped from Fort Bowie, Arizona, by the "greatest Indian fighter" in the army—Crook—C. O. D. Mr. McKin who is a poor man, was required to pay the boy's railroad fare, and Lindner, Wormser & Co. generously took the little fellow in and dressed him up in a handsome new suit of clothes, at which he was much pleased. He was overjoyed to see his father, whom he recognized upon sight, and to whom he related the rough experiences of the past seven months. On the arrival of the train in this city, and the news of the coming of the boy being circulated, a large crowd of curious people gathered to see the little fellow, who was the lion of the hour. His face was very much sun-burnt, and the marks of exposure were plainly visible on him. He readily answered every question put to him in Spanish, but when spoken to in English would answer "no sabe," signifying that he did not understand that language.

GERONIMO, THE APACHE CHIEF

He appeared to solicit being questioned by his father, and unhesitatingly answered every question asked by him. He said that Geronimo killed his brother Martin and took his coat and pants off, and that upon hearing the shot which killed his brother he hid in the brush, but was found by the Indians and put upon a horse and taken along. He states that the Indians sometimes travelled two days and nights without sleep or rest, and that they lived mostly on horse flesh, occasionally killing a cow. While a band of Indians were endeavoring to round-up some cattle the boy says that an Indian named Chino was killed by a party of cowmen, and that he was the only Indian that he knew to have been killed while he was with the... When asked by his father how he liked horse flesh, he said: "It is good when hungry." He vividly describes the burning of a frame house that looked very much like a store, but cannot say in what part of the country it was. Flour, sugar, molasses, bacon and other articles were obtained from the house before it was fired. A large supply of candies and domestics was secured at another place, which is supposed to have been from Saurbourin's wagon, as he had a large amount of candy aboard when taken in. The little fellow was required to work carrying wood for camp fires, herding and hunting horses. One day Geronimo becoming angry at him, struck him with a gun on the head, knocking him down and severely injuring him. He is acquainted with every Indian in the band, and will make a good witness against Geronimo, as he saw him kill his brother. He says that when the bucks were going on raids they would leave him in camp with the squaws.

Mr. McKin went to Georgetown on yesterday's coach, taking his boy with him. Much valuable information could be obtained from the boy if time was taken to question him closely by a person familiar with the Spanish language.—Silver City Enterprise.

Enthusiastic!

Meeting of the Anti-Chinese League at Schieffelin Hall Saturday Night.

Mayor Thomas Accepts the Presidency of the League, and Scores the Enemies of White Labor.

W. D. Coleman, Proprietor of the Pacific Chop House Elected Treasurer.

The Large Number of People Present Causes the Epitaph to Haul Down the Chinese Flag and Call for a Truce which was Refused by the League

On Saturday evening last the Anti-Chinese League of this city met at Schieffelin Hall, and notwithstanding the fact that the organ of the Chinese for a week past had stated repeatedly in its columns that everyone who attended the meetings would be spotted, about four hundred members of the League were present.

J. M. Nash, Chairman of the Executive Committee, called the meeting to order, owing to the resignation of the former President, Mr. A. T. Jones, who had resigned since the last meeting.

The resignations of Mr. Jones and Mr. Bradshaw were then read, as was also the report of the Treasurer, Mr. Bradshaw.

The resignation of Mr. Jones was then on motion accepted by the League. The Chairman pro tem then announced that nominations for permanent President were in order.

Mr. Wicks nominated Mayor C. N. Thomas. The announcement of Mr. Thomas' name was received with tremendous applause, and was seconded by at least one hundred members. Mr. S. C. Bagg, who was the first second to the nomination, got up and addressed the multitude as follows:

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Tombstone Anti-Chinese League:—Gentlemen, in arising to second the nomination of Charles N. Thomas as your President, I do so with feelings of pleasure, as during the past week the Epitaph—the organ of the Chinese—has placed itself in opposition to WHITE LABOR, has tried to intimidate any person whom this League would nominate, and I know from the flattering vote that Mr. Thomas received for Mayor of this city that he is popular beyond expression, and I hope that the gentleman will accept the office of President of this League, and that he will be elected without a dissenting voice.

The question was then put and carried, and Mr. Thomas declared duly elected the President of the Tombstone Anti-Chinese League.

Mr. Thomas, who was in the back part of the hall, then stepped forward to the platform amid deafening applause.

The band being present, upon Mr. Thomas ascending the platform, played "Yankee Doodle," as emblematic of the time when tea under English rule was boycotted.

After the band had ceased to play, Mayor Thomas stepped forward on the platform and thanked the League for the honor that they had bestowed upon him. He stated that he was proud of the honor bestowed upon him and thanked the League for presenting his name and accepted the office. He felt sorry that the President and Treasurer had resigned at the time they were most needed to carry on the good work. He assured the League that he was in favor of the boycott, and that his was the last name that would come off the roll of the Anti-Chinese League. This address was received with great applause.

The President then announced that the Treasurer's resignation was upon the table, and asked what was the pleasure of the League.

On motion, the resignation of Mr. Bradshaw was accepted.

On motion, seconded by Col. Dean, W. D. Coleman, proprietor of the Pacific Chop House, was elected Treasurer of the League.

Mr. Coleman then stepped upon the platform and the band played "Hail to the Chief!" This tune was played in recognition of the fact that Mr. Coleman was one of the first gentlemen in this city to sign the roll of the League and among the first to discharge his Chinese help and put white men in their stead. After the band had finished their tune Mr. Coleman stepped forward and assured the League that he was with them heart and soul and would stay with them to the end.

The Secretary then called upon Judge Robinson, Judge Reilly and J. M. Nash to state what occurred at the meeting at Wilcox.

Judge Robinson then stated that the meeting at Wilcox was a grand success, and that 182 names were upon the roll, and that only six residents of Wilcox had refused to sign the same. He then stated that the Epitaph had been making war upon him for over a week, and that all efforts of compromise had now passed, and that the tocsin had sounded and that it was war to the knife from now on. He said he would not reply through the newspapers, but would ring it in the ears of every person in this county from the stump, and that in every instance he would give them the lash until they squirmed beneath its feet.

The report of the executive committee was then read, in which they stated that they had published the names of those to be boycotted as per order, and had also established a reading room for the benefit of everybody, and that all the territorial papers and Eastern periodicals would be kept constantly on hand.

Several members here came up and paid their dues, and several new members signed their names to the roll.

On motion, a committee of five was appointed to report from day to day the names of every person in this city who employed or patronized Chinese to the executive committee, and that they all be placed upon the boycotted list. Carried.

The following committee were then appointed: Frank Bessert, James Cnathan, Josiah Kirlew, William Wicks and Col. Dean.

On motion, the League then adjourned until next Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

A St. Louis dispatch says: Frank McKeighan, a telegraph operator, was arrested yesterday and has made a confession which will create a sensation. He says that he recently entered into an arrangement with Thos. Furlong, Chief of the Gould System Secret Service, whereby Martin Irons, A. C. Coughlan and other prominent leaders of the Knights of Labor were to be arrested. A room was engaged in the third-story of the building at No. 23 Market street, into the post window of which ran a private telegraph wire on which H. M. Hoxie, Vice-President of the Missouri Pacific Railway was in almost constant communication with Gould McKeighan engaged another operator named Nicholas to assist him, and the two men soon tapped the wire and had an instrument at work. The arrangement was to have Irons, Coughlan and another in the room intercepting messages between Hoxie and Gould, when the police would make a descent on the place and capture the whole outfit.

The plan was neatly laid out, but failed for the simple reason that Irons and his men did not propose to gain their information of the intentions of their enemies in any such manner, and have furnished another proof that honesty and integrity is always more than a match for cunning and treachery.

The Fire Bell.

Yesterday afternoon the Rescue Hose boys raised their new alarm bell into the tower on top of the City Hall.

After the bell had been raised the alarm was sounded and was responded to by Chief Engineer and members of the Fire Department who lay to and demolished beer and eatables for over two hours. The bell was again rung and all departed feeling sure that when Rescue bell sounded the alarm of fire, all would be present.

Charges Against Gov. Zulick.

Ever since President Cleveland appointed Colonel C. Meyer Zulick, of Newark, Governor of Arizona Territory, his political enemies in the Democratic party have made determined efforts to defeat his confirmation by the United States Senate.

As was recently stated in the Herald a suit was brought against him as the President of the New Jersey and Sonora Reduction Company, by some of the stockholders of the concern. In the bill of complaint filed in the New Jersey Court of Chancery it is alleged that he willfully misrepresented the affairs of the company and induced people, many of whom were his intimate friends, to invest money in the company, and subsequently the funds were used for the development of a silver mine in Sonora, Mexico. A full history of the case was forwarded to Washington.

During the last few days another scandal was created by the production of an affidavit made by Alderman George S. Smith, of Newark, in which he makes very serious charges against Colonel Zulick in connection with his nomination for Surrogate of Essex county, and the election which followed. An account of Alderman Smith's terrible death from carbon miasme was published in the Herald two months ago. He had been a close personal friend of Col. Zulick for many years, and just prior to his death a coolness was noticed between them. The affidavit was made several months before his death and probably would remain the exclusive property of the Senate if he were alive to-day.

The affidavit is now in the possession of Senator Harrison, of Indiana, chairman of the committee on territories, but a copy of it is preserved in Newark. It details various practices, which, it alleges, Governor Zulick indulged in during Andrew Johnson's administration, when Governor Zulick held for a brief period the position of United States Assessor for the Newark District, and refers to the manner in which the offices at his disposal were disposed of. The affidavit further states that at the last general election (1884), when Zulick was a candidate for Surrogate and was defeated, he approached Alderman Smith, then chairman of the public buildings committee, and proposed a plan by which, when a recount of the ballot-boxes were called for, it would show that Zulick was elected and not defeated, as was previously announced. In the affidavit Alderman Smith stated that he was actuated in making it solely by a desire to show that Zulick was not a proper person to hold the office of Governor of Arizona or any position under the Democratic administration.

In speaking of the affidavit a well-known New Jersey politician said to a Herald reporter yesterday: "President Cleveland was very angry when he heard of the affidavit, and immediately sent for Senator McPherson, who recommended Zulick's appointment. The latter sent for several Newark Democrats and asked to have the matter thoroughly investigated. Alderman Smith was seen a week before his death. He reaffirmed his charges and promised to give them in detail. I believe that he was working upon a full statement when he died. The whole matter has been referred to a sub-committee consisting of Senators George, of Mississippi, and Cullom, of Illinois, who are investigating it, together with the Sonora mine matter."

It is understood that there are other charges against Gov. Zulick in the possession of the Senate committee, and most of the evidence is being furnished by a prominent Democrat.—New York Herald, March 30th.

In another month it will be time for our people to plant trees and sow seeds if they desire to beautify their homes, and to this end Mr. Branch has just received at his nursery, on Fulton street, between Second and Third, a fine lot of fruit trees and vines from the San Jose nursery, California, which he will sell very reasonable.
